Hermes Investment Management Limited

Responsibility: a core value

Hermes Investment Management Limited is an active asset manager seeking to deliver excellent, long-term, risk adjusted performance – responsibly. We strive to lead the debate and contribute to the transformation of the investment industry for the benefit of our clients, their stakeholders and, where possible, society at large.

Our agenda and activities are driven by the long-term objectives of our clients' beneficiaries and we act in their interests.

Responsibility in practice

We have a comprehensive programme to ensure our responsibility approach and activities are integrated seamlessly in our funds and stewardship service. This includes:

- Seeking to deliver enduring, responsible performance within the terms of the fund, taking into account all material investment factors including material environmental, social and governance (ESG) factors ensuring that we are informed by these considerations
- Acting as a responsible, engaged, long-term steward of investments encompassing constructive dialogue and taking action where necessary
- Engaging with public policy makers and industry bodies to address environmental, social and other market issues that may prevent the financial system from operating in the best interests of its ultimate asset owners

We integrate relevant and material ESG considerations and, where applicable, engagement insights into our investment processes. The public-equities and fixed-income teams supplement fundamental financial analysis with information provided through a range of proprietary ESG and engagement tools. Through these tools, along with additional engagement insights, the teams have access to third-party ESG data, as well as insights from engagement carried out by FHL's (Federated Hermes Limited's) subsidiary EOS at Federated Hermes Limited ("EOS") with investee companies and the broader investable universe. These sources are a valuable input to the investment process, as well as to the ongoing monitoring of and engagement with companies.

For public markets, FHL's proprietary ESG tools are of particular note. The below provides highlights of the tools available to the investment teams. Each fund is managed within its investment guidelines and follows the investment process of the fund managers that manage each fund.

- Our ESG Dashboard includes our proprietary Quantitative ESG (QESG) Score and identifies stocks with positive ESG characteristics and/or stocks demonstrating positive ESG change. The QESG score captures how a company manages its sustainability risks. The dashboard includes a snapshot of which themes the company has been engaged on along with progress made.
- The Portfolio Snapshot allows us to examine ESG ratings and controversies and identifies contingent risks.
   Our portfolio managers use this tool to evaluate a strategy's ESG performance over time. It also provides insights into engagement and the progress made, and our voting choices relative to the benchmark.
- Our Carbon Tool enables fund managers and engagers to identify carbon risks in portfolios and companies that currently exist or may develop in the future. Importantly, the tool incorporates our stewardship activity and intelligence and is able to identify companies that are priorities for engagement and their progress against environmental objectives. We also conduct climate scenario analysis across our portfolios. The third-party tool allows us to assess transition and physical risks and opportunities related to climate change across different regions and sectors.
- Our Environmental Tool assesses both portfolios and companies on their carbon, water and waste performance. It also looks to quantify the environmental cost of the impact via the following six lenses; carbon, water, waste, air pollutants, land/water pollutants and natural resource use. In addition, we assess the valuation and financial risks in our portfolios and companies with exposures to carbon intensive sectors; namely fossil fuels, mining and thermal coal. This tool also incorporates our stewardship activities with a focus on environmental engagement at both portfolio level and company level.
- Our Corporate Governance Tool provides a breakdown of corporate governance characteristics, such as information on board independence, diversity and audit tenure. This tool compares the governance of companies to the standards we have set and flags any companies that do not meet the expected standard.

Hermes Investment Management Limited (continued)

EOS which provides stewardship services in public equity and fixed income markets, is a global market leader in voting and engagement with both companies and public policy makers. The team makes voting recommendations over 13,000 company meetings and actively engages with around 1,000 companies (core engagement programme for 2025 is around 300) during the period at executive and board level on a range of issues including board governance, executive remuneration, risk management, business strategy, corporate culture, carbon, pollution, water stress, labour and community rights. We are also active participants in a wide range of public policy discussions and our Chief Executive, Saker Nusseibeh, founded the 300 Club, an independent forum for discussion and debate about the responsibilities of the investment industry.

Whilst the responsibility for implementation resides with all FHL personnel, the ESG and engagement integration programme is led, coordinated and supported by the FHL Responsibility Office: The Head of Responsibility reporting to FHL CEO, a policy and advocacy team and an ESG integration team. The Head of Responsibility also leads EOS, Federated Hermes Limited's external stewardship service.

Market Review

Emerging Markets (EM) delivered strong gains in the first half of 2025, with the MSCI EM Index returning +15.3% in USD (5.4% in sterling terms), outperforming both the US (+5.5%) and developed markets (DMs) (+8.6%). Elevated uncertainty from US trade policy dampened US growth expectations, while China's DeepSeek challenged US exceptionalism. Market sentiment rebounded after an initial April sell-off triggered by US tariff escalations. A 90-day reprieve and a trade framework agreement between the US and China in Geneva helped restore confidence. EM was further supported by a weaker US dollar (-10.7% year to date YTD). Spot gold rose 25.9% as investors turned to safe havens. EM Growth (+15.6%) slightly outpaced EM Value (+14.7%). Despite strong performance, EM equity flows remain negative YTD (-$13.6bn), with exchange-traded fund (ETF) inflows (+$19.5bn) offset by non-ETF outflows (-$33.2bn).

Regional performance was strong across the board. Latin America led with +29.9%, followed by CEEMEA (+16.3%) and Emerging Asia (+13.9%). Top-performing markets included Greece (+60.0%), Poland (+52.0%), and Colombia (+49.8%). In contrast, Thailand (-13.3%), Turkey (-6.3%), and Indonesia (-4.1%) lagged due to growth concerns and political instability. South Korea surged +39% YTD, including +32% in Q2, driven by easing political uncertainty, a sizeable stimulus package from the newly-elected government, and rising memory chip prices. China gained +17.3%, supported by improving sentiment towards domestic tech following DeepSeek's breakthrough in January and milder-than-expected US tariffs. India underperformed amid valuation concerns, while Taiwan rebounded in Q2 on AI optimism after early weakness tied to trade uncertainty. Mexico and Brazil benefited from trade reprieves and interest rate hikes, respectively. At the sector level, all sectors posted gains. Communication Services (+23.0%), Industrials (+22.1%), and Materials (+17.4%) led, while Real Estate (+7.1%), Consumer Staples (+7.7%), and Health Care (+8.9%) lagged.

Investment Strategy

During the first half of 2025, we initiated several high-conviction positions aligned with long-term structural growth themes. Etihad Etisalat (Mobily), a leading Saudi telecommunications provider, was added for its strong brand, advanced infrastructure, and growing B2B segment. The company is well-positioned to benefit from Saudi Arabia's economic transformation, fibre rollout and expansion into ICT and fintech services. Silergy, China's top power management integrated circuit (IC) supplier, was reinstated. The company is expected to benefit from shifting global supply chains, strong electric vehicle demand, and supportive domestic semiconductor policies. Meituan was reinitiated following some underperformance. As China's dominant food delivery platform, it remains well-placed for long-term growth through its insta-shopping business and international expansion.

Advanced Info Service (AIS), Thailand's leading telecom and technology provider, was added for its services including 5G, cloud, and Internet of Things (IoT). The company is supported by rising average revenue per user, broadband subscriber growth, and margin expansion. We added MakeMyTrip (MMYT), India's leading online travel agency, poised to benefit from rising discretionary income, low digital penetration, and strong operating leverage. We also reinitiated Wuxi Lead Intelligent, China's largest lithium-ion battery equipment provider, supported by global demand, aging equipment replacement, and policy tailwinds.

We exited Freeport after a copper price rally and our production concerns. Hangzhou First and Voltronic Power were sold for better opportunities and Kingsoft given competitive risks in Al. We trimmed positions in TSMC, Accton, and Wiwynn in Q1 to reduce exposure to Taiwan and the technology sector. Press Metal was sold after its margin expansion thesis played out, and Cyient was exited to fund new ideas. JD.com was trimmed to fund the Meituan reinitiation, while KE (Beike) was switched from the ADR to the Hong Kong line. AIA, Banco de Chile, HKEX, Max Healthcare, and Wheaton Precious Metals were trimmed into strength.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 2.76% in sterling terms, net of fees, during the first half of 2025, underperforming the benchmark, the MSCI Emerging Markets Net Index, which returned 5.35%, by 246 basis points (bps) on a relative basis. The primary driver of underperformance was stock selection, though this was partially offset by positive country and currency effects. China was the largest detractor, with stock selection costing -303bps. Other notable detractors included South Africa, Taiwan, India, and Hungary. In contrast, strong selection in Canada, Saudi Arabia, UAE, Chile, and Malaysia contributed positively. The Fund's relative performance was also impacted by its lack of exposure to several large outperformers in China and Korea, including Alibaba, Xiaomi, NetEase, SK Hynix, and Doosan. However, country allocation added value, particularly from an overweight to Korea, underweights to Taiwan, India, and Saudi Arabia, and a favourable currency effect from China.

Top contributors included Wheaton Precious Metals, a leader in streaming finance for precious metal miners, which benefited from record-high gold prices, strong cash flow, and a 6.5% dividend increase. BYD, China's largest carmaker, rose around 38% on surging EV sales and market share gains. Hansol Chemical, a South Korean specialist in advanced materials, also added value, driven by demand for chipmaking materials and a recovery in hydrogen peroxide volumes.

On the downside, JD.com declined due to concerns over its zero-commission food delivery service. Nari Technology, a Chinese provider of grid automation and digitisation solutions, pulled back despite strong orders, amid investor concerns over State Grid procurement. KE Holdings (Beike), China's leading property transaction platform, fell following seasonal weakness in property transactions, despite strong Q1 results.

Outlook

Uncertainty around US trade policy and "higher for longer" interest rates is weighing on global economic momentum. Tariffs are disrupting supply chains and dampening consumer demand, while policy volatility and fiscal concerns are pressuring the US dollar and Treasury markets. Although tariffs may eventually ease, the current environment is discouraging enterprise investment and job creation. Despite muted global growth, emerging markets (EMs) offer compelling opportunities for quality and growth investors. EM equity positioning remains light, and valuations are attractive relative to developed markets. Many EMs are supported by strong domestic demand, infrastructure investment, and digital transformation. A weaker US dollar also benefits EMs with external funding needs, while prudent macro policies and structural reforms are helping reduce risk premiums.

This environment creates opportunities to invest in high-quality companies with structural growth drivers and pricing power – businesses better equipped to navigate macro headwinds and compound value over time. The Fund is particularly focused on companies enabling technological transformation. Around 50% of the portfolio is allocated to IP-rich businesses across AI infrastructure (chips, servers, liquid cooling, networking, software), industrial technologies (automation, grid digitisation, EV batteries, battery energy storage systems, autonomous driving), as well as providers of AI data centres and information / communication technologies. These companies are well-positioned to benefit from long-term shifts in global productivity and innovation, helping to future-proof the strategy.

Federated Hermes Global High Yield Credit Fund

Market Review

2025 got off to a good start, which was short lived as uncertainty around Trumponomic policies – targeted tariffs, DOGE scrutiny, "drill baby drill" supply worries and unsettling America first campaigns – took centre stage. This all caused unease in the great American exceptionalism trade, driving US sovereign yields down together with a rally in other haven assets like US Treasuries and gold. Europe, on the other hand, made headway with its ratecutting cycle. More prominent was the announcement from Germany's newly-elected government to increase its fiscal spending, causing a notable shift in sentiment between the US and Europe. This gave investors hope that austerity within the region could end soon, with sovereign yields up and a notable pick up in risky assets like high yield and investment-grade credit. By the end of the first quarter, however, investors came off the pedal completely and were in risk-off mode as they waited for the great US Liberation Day (2 April), at which the US president was expected to announce global trade tariffs.

Volatility, uncertainty and geopolitical tensions continued to be key themes, beginning with April's sharp market swings following the Liberation Day announcement of US global trade tariffs. The S&P 500 experienced both its worst and best days in years – falling 19% from its February peak to then recovering 24% by the end of June – while bond and currency markets saw historic moves. However, sentiment improved after a 90-day tariff extension was announced, helping equities and credit markets recover. Treasury yields, however, rose sharply and remained so as renewed fiscal worries following the US credit rating downgrades and debate over Trump's "One Big Beautiful Bill". By the end of the quarter, geopolitical risks resurfaced as conflict between Israel and Iran briefly spiked oil prices, though a swift ceasefire calmed markets. Despite these headwinds, global economic data remained robust, inflation surprised to the downside, and markets continued to price in Federal Reserve rate cuts by period-end.

Investment Strategy

Throughout the first half of the period, we actively participated in the primary market, adding new positions at attractive levels amid strong credit market technicals and investor demand. We focused on selective top-ups and strategic rotations, a currency rotation in a UK auto repair issuer and building positions in the auto parts space. Market volatility followed the Liberation Day tariff announcement in the second half, but our conviction in high-quality issuers allowed us to take advantage of dislocations. We topped up positions in Health Care and Financials, added promising names like Restaurant Brands International and Energizer, and remained active in the Financials primary market. Overall, we continued to refine our positioning through selective risk additions, capital structure reallocations, and sector-specific switches, enhancing the portfolio's risk-reward profile while maintaining a disciplined approach to valuation.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Global High Yield Credit Fund generated a return of +4.65% (USD, gross of fees), outperforming its benchmark by 27 basis points. The Fund generated a return of +4.21% (USD, net of fees).

The Fund's overweight positioning in basic industry, banking and capital goods contributed the most to relative returns. In contrast, underweight positioning in Energy and Real Estate, as well as a lack of exposure to leisure, detracted the most.

At the individual holdings level, the Fund's overweight exposure to Walgreens Boots Alliance (retail) and Liberty Global (media), as well as a lack of exposure to New Fortress Energy (Energy) contributed the most to relative performance, while its lack of exposure to Pemex (Energy), Altice International (telecommunications) and Bausch Health Companies (Health Care) detracted the most.

At the regional level, the Fund's overweight positioning to Western Europe, the UK and the Pacific contributed the most to relative returns. In contrast, its positioning to North America and Asia, as well as a lack of exposure to the Middle East, detracted the most.

From a ratings perspective, the Fund's overweight positioning to BBB and BB-rated contributed the most to relative performance, whilst its underweight exposure to single B-rated issues and below, detracted the most.

Outlook

We remain neutral duration in recognition that the future path of interest rates is not going to be straightforward, whilst we maintain a preference for steeper curves in the US. While growth has been resilient, ongoing uncertainty around higher tariffs is yet to feed into hard economic data. Meanwhile, sentiment and expectations data in the US suggest a reduction in confidence in the US economy, while Europe may see some growth benefit on the back of its plans for increased defence spending. We expect tariff uncertainty to continue to be a driver of markets in the near term, creating opportunities across regions, sectors and issuers.

Corporate balance sheets for the most part remain in decent shape, though companies have been cautious in giving forward-looking guidance. We expect companies to act rationally should fundamentals deteriorate and to take defensive measures to the balance sheet and preserve equity value, such as reducing capex programmes. Credit technicals continue to be very resilient and we have seen strong supply for May and June easily absorbed as investors looked to put money to work. We expect this trend to continue as high all in yields and low volatility continue to attract money to the asset class despite tight spreads. With spreads back around the tights, we favour a defensive sector and credit quality allocation and remain cautious on highly levered parts of the market as we head into the second half of 2025. Credit selection is likely to be increasingly important as we await more data to confirm the impact of tariffs on the US economy.

Federated Hermes US SMID Equity Fund

Market Review

The Russell 2500 Index Net fell by 8.46% in sterling terms over the period but rose slightly to 0.44% in US dollar terms (unless otherwise stated, all subsequent returns are quoted in US dollars).

2025 started with high expectations that the return of President Trump and his "America First" agenda would lead to a continuation of US exceptionalism. Instead, the first four months of the year were overshadowed by a risk-off sentiment and significant volatility. The swathe of policy announcements and tariffs from the new administration heightened concerns that geopolitical tensions could hamper economic growth and push inflation higher, and erode the US dollar's historical status as a safe haven. President Trump's reciprocal tariffs, announced in April, were broader and more punitive than anticipated and led to the S&P 500 experiencing its worst two-day performance since March 2020 and the VIX spiked to its highest level since the pandemic. The sharp rise in US 10-year bond yields prompted a 90-day pause to allow for negotiations and equity markets responded positively. US equities rallied in May and June boosted by optimism over new trade deals, improved consumer sentiment, possible rate cuts and progress on President Trump's extensive tax cut and spending bill. Oil prices spiked due to the escalation of Iran Israel tensions, but settled post the de-escalation as concerns over supply and disruption eased. US Large caps outperformed small caps and within US SMID, value outperformed growth.

Within US SMID, Utilities (16.73%) and Financials (5.86%) were the best performing sectors, with Health Care (-6.09%) and Real Estate (-3.82%) lagging and ending the period in negative territory.

Investment Strategy

The Fund continued to seek high-quality companies with attractive upside potential, and to trim positions in what we believed were fully-valued stocks (or stocks that were set to be negatively impacted by the changing landscape).

Performance Review

The Fund returned -10.76% in net sterling terms, underperforming the benchmark by 251bp over the period. The underperformance was driven by stock selection in Health Care and Financials. These offset the positive contribution from our stock selection in Industrials.

Axon Enterprise, Woodward and Esco Technologies were the top contributors to performance year-to-date. Axon rose after reporting better-than-expected 2024 and Q1 2025 results and raising guidance. Axon have delivered impressive booking momentum and their expanding portfolio supports their guidance. Woodward rose after raising guidance for 2025. The share-price was also boosted after a broker upgrade. The analyst had downgraded Woodward last year and conceded that this was a mistake and driven by "overly short-termism and non-fundamental thinking". Esco rose after reporting two strong quarters of results with sales growth and margin improvement across all of its businesses. The company is benefitting from strong secular demand tailwinds.

Teradyne, Azenta and Bio-Rad Laboratories were the largest detractors to relative returns year-to-date. Teradyne fell after a broker downgrade and revising its second quarter revenue outlook. Management highlighted short-term volatility in semiconductor test business due to tariff and trade uncertainty. Despite posting two quarters of in-line results and confirming guidance, Azenta fell. The share price has been impacted by Chinese restrictions on gene technologies, the proposed changes to NIH research grants and tariff concerns. Bio-Rad also fell despite posting better-than-expected quarterly results, as management cut guidance to reflect softer demand. The share price has also been impacted by the proposed changes to NIH funding. All of our detractors' share-prices have shown signs of recovery in June 2025.

Outlook

We believe that recent volatility in global investment markets will abate over the coming months, as tariff deals gradually get done and investors benefit from an increasing level of clarity over Trump's economic policies. Progrowth initiatives - such as deregulation and tax cuts - should also receive greater attention from investors. We remain confident in the underlying domestic economy (and therefore our overweight positioning in industrials and materials) and of our companies' ability to generate strong earnings growth over the next several quarters. We remain of the view that a portfolio of cash generative companies with strong balance sheets seems to us like a good way to be positioned.

Federated Hermes Asia ex-Japan Equity Fund

Market Review

The MSCI AC Asia ex Japan IMI Net Index rose by 4.0% in GBP terms (13.8% in USD), outperforming developed markets. Heightened uncertainty from unpredictable US trade policy and a global reassessment of technology leadership dampened US growth expectations, prompting investors to seek opportunities in Asia. Chinese and Korean equities led gains, beating longer-term outperformers, Taiwan and India.

A weakening US dollar and falling Treasury yields supported Asian markets. After a dip in April following President Trump's "Liberation Day" announcement, sentiment rebounded in May on trade progress and US dollar weakness.

South Korea, a laggard in 2024, rebounded strongly. Chipmakers benefited from rising prices, while industrials like shipbuilders and defence firms gained on expectations of increased geopolitical spending. Post-election, South Korean equities rose further, supported by governance reforms (for which we have advocated long and hard), a stronger South Korean won, and higher memory chip prices.

Chinese equities advanced on improved sentiment toward tech firms, especially after DeepSeek's open-source Al breakthrough, which challenged global Al leadership assumptions. Hints of more supportive policy from Beijing also helped. Despite ongoing tariff tensions and weak economic data, state support and central bank easing lifted mainland equities. Hong Kong outperformed the mainland, driven by large-cap tech stocks.

Taiwan lagged early in the quarter due to concerns over US trade restrictions and AI server shipment delays. However, it recovered later, supported by strong AI demand and gains in US tech.

India underperformed, weighed down by slowing growth concerns and high valuations. An investigation into a US-based fund active in Indian markets may have further dampened sentiment as volumes tied to derivative contracts fell.

Investment Strategy

Our key overweight allocations remains South Korea and China, with underweight allocations in India and Taiwan. Our allocation is derived from bottom-up stock selection.

Following strong performance, we sold Anker Innovations Technology, a Chinese smart charging and consumer products firm given elevated tariff risks. We exited JS Global Lifestyle and Hyundai Motor, reallocating capital amid bearishness on legacy automakers due to China's strides in car manufacturing. We exited IQIYI due to ADR delisting risks, and switched our Haier Smart Home A share to the H share on relative price moves. We sold Inner Mongolia Yili, Hyundai Glovis, Hyundai Mobis, Tsingtao Brewery, and China Mengniu Dairy, and trimmed Xiaomi Corp and Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing Company after strong gains.

We bought Bilibili, a leading Chinese online entertainment platform which is expected to increase profits. We also added Cosmax, an attractively-valued South Korean cosmetics developer poised to benefit from a China recovery and rising influencer-driven brands.

We bought ACM Research, a US-listed semiconductor equipment firm generating most of its revenue in China. Its US-listed shares trade at a discount versus its Chinese subsidiary. We also initiated a position in Shanghai M&G Stationery, a domestically focused Chinese retailer given improving sentiment and shareholder-friendly policies. We added Qualcomm, a leading semiconductor firm with significant revenue exposure to Asia ex-Japan, which should benefit from potential upside from a smartphone recovery and AI integration.

We re-initiated Korea Electric Power Corporation (KEPCO) and Samsung SDS. KEPCO benefits from lower fuel costs, trades at a low valuation and the government is likely to be sympathetic to the company's electricity pricing demands given its week balance sheet and the corporate governance zeitgeist, while Samsung SDS is well-positioned for growth in cloud and AI services. We bought Hefei Meiya Optoelectronic, a promising photoelectronic equipment maker and re-initiated Wuliangye Yibin, a top Chinese baijiu brand. We added Yadea Group, China's leading electric two-wheeler maker, and WH Group, a Hong Kong-listed food company benefiting from favourable commodity trends and expanding product lines.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 7.4% in sterling terms (17.7% in US dollar terms) over the period, outperforming the MSCI AC Asia ex Japan IMI Net Index by 321bps (net of fees). This was largely driven by the overweight position to outperforming Chinese and South Korean stocks, and underweight position to Indian and Taiwanese stocks, which underperformed. Stock selection in South Korea and Thailand also contributed. This was partially offset by negative stock selection in China.

Korea Investment Holdings, a South Korean brokerage firm, outperformed, benefiting as a high-beta play amid a broader rally. Gains were driven by growing investor optimism over corporate governance reforms - aimed at addressing the "Korea discount". The rally was further supported by post-election political stability and speculation on a fiduciary duty law. KB Financial, a South Korean bank, rose as improving political conditions boosted sentiment. KB Financial offers an attractive shareholder return plan, including further buybacks, treasury cancellation, and cash dividends. Xiaomi Corp, a leading Chinese consumer electronics firm and the world's third-largest smartphone maker, rose following its consensus-beating forecast for strong sales growth in 2025. This upbeat outlook stems from EV business growth, strong order backlogs and expanded capacity from a second factory. Xiaomi's core smartphone business benefits from government subsidies and the Chinese government's promotion of consumption as part of its stimulus package.

Chinese e-commerce platform, JD.com, underperformed following an expansion into the travel sector and food delivery. Investor sentiment declined on concerns over competition and the direction of growth initiatives. Luxury watch and jewellery brand, Swatch Group, underperformed on declining exports amid tariff uncertainty, and slowing Chinese sales. Not holding SK Hynix, a major South Korean memory chipmaker, detracted from relative returns as the stock outperformed. The company posted record earnings, fuelled by rising DRAM prices and robust sales of its advanced high-bandwidth memory (HBM) chips.

Outlook

South Korea has sharply outperformed year-to-date. However, this follows long-term underperformance. It remains among the cheapest markets globally, and the fiduciary duty law now passed has removed a key reason for its low valuation. We expect further important reforms. While these have not yet been agreed, they could involve equal treatment for minorities in the event of takeovers, inheritance tax reform, differential tax treatment of companies with higher payout ratios and differential inheritance tax treatment for companies trading below book value. We expect positive news flow in the context of low valuations and below-benchmark positioning of many asset allocators to continue to drive this market higher.

Market Review

Global equities posted modest gains despite a volatile backdrop of trade tensions, geopolitical shocks, and shifting investor sentiment. Early-year optimism around President Trump's pro-growth agenda—centered on deregulation and tax cuts—initially lifted US sentiment. However, this quickly faded as US equities underperformed in Q1, weighed down by escalating trade disputes, inflation concerns, and the economic impact of government layoffs. The emergence of DeepSeek, a powerful Chinese AI model, further pressured AI-related stocks, particularly the "Magnificent Seven."

In contrast, European equities benefited from a rotation out of US assets, supported by improving economic data and a growth-oriented German administration. China also experienced a brief rebound, driven by stimulus measures and optimism around its Al leadership. However, this momentum was short-lived as renewed US tariff threats—culminating in the Liberation Day announcement in early Q2—reignited trade tensions and dampened sentiment.

Markets reacted sharply to the Liberation Day tariffs, with major indices falling and the VIX spiking to its highest level since the pandemic. The US administration's subsequent pause on reciprocal tariffs for non-retaliating countries, followed by a truce with China in May, helped stabilize sentiment. A strong earnings season—particularly among the Magnificent Seven—then supported a US equity rebound.

Geopolitical tensions escalated late in Q2 following Israel's strike on Iran, but swift US diplomacy led to a ceasefire, containing broader fallout. Despite persistent volatility, investor risk appetite remained resilient.

Factor performance varied significantly. January was muted, while February saw value outperform in Europe and Japan, and growth lead in North America. March favoured valuation over sentiment, but April and May saw a pivot back to growth and sentiment. In June, sentiment remained dominant, while profitability and capital structure weakened—suggesting macro forces outweighed fundamentals.

Investment Strategy

The investment approach remains focused on stock selection, with neutral sector and regional biases. The Federated Hermes Global Equity ESG Pathway Fund uses systematic fundamental analysis to assess the attractiveness of over 5,000 stocks on a daily basis. This analysis involves a disciplined, bottom-up stock selection process, which is based on well-documented anomalies and trends in investor behaviour. The strategy aims to take advantage of systematic behavioural biases of market participants while remaining cognisant of the risks associated with the modelling of such behaviour.

We determine fair value for a stock by using metrics from a company's financial statements. Our modelling incorporates a wide variety of stock characteristics (often referred to as factors) designed to proxy expected investment returns and the behaviour of market participants. Environmental, social and governance (ESG) is embedded in the Alpha model, using the team's proprietary Quantitative ESG (QESG) Score, which enables the team to identify stocks that have good or improving ESG characteristics. The Fund's multi-factor approach ensures it remains exposed to a range of styles with the aim of generating consistent outperformance over the long term. We closely monitor the performance of each factor with the aim of building stock selection models that deliver consistent and sustainable excess returns.

Portfolio modelling is utilised in the portfolio construction process to trade-off between expected return and portfolio risk, allowing for both portfolio constraints and transaction costs. The process is further supplemented by portfolio exposure analysis using our proprietary risk modelling system, MultiFRAME, which allows the team to assess the Fund's exposure to any quantifiable risk factor.

Unlike traditional quantitative strategies, analysis is also completed on a disciplined, subjective, stock-level basis. The team uses its extensive experience to challenge the output of the investment model and remove trades subject to significant non-quantifiable factors or unreliable inputs. The team also works closely with EOS, our inhouse stewardship team, which votes on and engages with companies on our behalf and works with us to further understand the ESG risks and opportunities facing each company.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Global Equity ESG Pathway Fund F GBP Accumulating share class returned -0.24% in H1 2025, underperforming the MSCI ACWI Net, which returned 0.58%, by 82 basis points (bps). At the sector level, there were notable contributions from stock selection in Consumer Discretionary, Utilities, Health Care and Energy. The largest detractors came from selection in Industrials, Consumer Staples and the overweight stance in Health Care. At the regional level, value was added from stock selection in Asia-Pacific ex-Japan and Japan. Selection in Europe was the most notable detractor.

The largest individual contributors were UniCredit, UGI and Aker BP. There was also a significant contribution from not owning Tesla. UniCredit reported better-than-expected results in both Q1 and Q2 as higher revenues and slightly better costs allowed it to boost capital distribution. It also received approval to increase its stake in Commerzbank. UGI reported positive earnings due to strong demand and higher prices for natural gas. Aker BP increased alongside the oil price—driven by an escalation in geopolitical tensions in the Middle East following Israel's strike in Iran—towards the end of H1.

FedEx, General Mills and Broadcom detracted the most. FedEx declined after it cut guidance with management citing weakness in the Industrial economy. This was exacerbated by fears that trade tariffs would further reduce demand for its services. General Mills reported disappointing earnings and lowered its FY2025 outlook due to slowing US snack sales and elevated inventory levels. Broadcom faced headwinds from concerns that DeepSeek could disrupt demand for high-end chips and computing infrastructure.

Outlook

Global equity volatility has stabilised, and investor sentiment is turning optimistic. The S&P 500 has fully rebounded from its post-Liberation Day dip, driven more by macroeconomic trends than corporate fundamentals. With US interest rates at 4.5% and inflation easing to 2.4%, pressure is building on the Federal Reserve to cut rates. A rate reduction could unlock sidelined capital, potentially boosting equities further. However, while Trump's "One Big Beautiful Bill" is seen as growth-friendly it raises concerns over rising national debt and possible inflation from increased consumer spending.

In Europe, lower interest rates and targeted stimulus measures—especially in Germany—are providing a supportive backdrop for businesses. With valuations still relatively attractive and corporate profitability holding steady, we remain constructive on the region.

In China, while there are pockets of investor enthusiasm—particularly in sectors such as technology, AI, and green energy—overall sentiment remains subdued. Ongoing concerns about the real estate sector continue to weigh on consumer confidence and broader economic momentum.

Uncertainties around tariffs, ongoing geopolitical tensions, and the upcoming earnings season could either reinforce or undermine current market optimism. In this environment, remaining diversified and maintaining a disciplined focus on fundamentals to navigate any potential shifts effectively will be paramount.

Federated Hermes Global Small Cap Equity Fund

Market Review

Small cap stocks, as represented by the MSCI World Small Cap Index (the benchmark for the Fund), returned 5.02% in sterling terms and 7.42% in US dollar terms (all subsequent returns, unless specified, are quoted in US dollars). This compares to the returns from the equivalent large and mid-cap indices of 9.60% and 10.61%, respectively.

The first half of 2025 began with optimism but this was quickly replaced by volatility. Escalating geo-political tensions and the US administration's trade policy dampened investor sentiment. The swathe of policy announcements and tariffs from the new US administration heightened concerns that geopolitical tensions could hamper economic growth and push inflation higher, and erode the US dollar's historical status as a safe haven. Trump's reciprocal tariffs, announced in April, were broader and more punitive than anticipated. The sharp rise in US 10-year bond yields prompted a 90-day pause to allow for negotiations and equity markets responded positively. This rally continued into May and June as markets were lifted by the optimism of new trade deals, a strong earnings season and dovish commentary from the Federal Reserve (Fed). Divergence in rate cycles continued. The European Central Bank (ECB) cut rates to 2.0% and President Lagarde indicated that the ECB were nearing the end of its rate cutting cycle whilst the Fed kept rates unchanged. Oil prices spiked due to the escalation of Iran Israel tensions, but settled post the de-escalation as concerns over supply and disruption eased. The depreciation of the US dollar and progress on trade deals boosted Emerging Markets and they were the best performing region in H1 2025.

The best performing sectors over the period were Industrials (20.15%) and Financials (16.18%), while Utilities (2.79%) and Communication Services (3.49%) lagged.

Europe and the Middle East (26.83%) was the strongest performing region, while Portugal (49.24%) was the strongest individual country. North America (0.76%) was the worst performing region, and the United States (-0.31%) was the worst performing country.

Investment Strategy

The Federated Hermes Global Small Cap Equity Fund follows a bottom-up, stock-picking strategy. The lead manager aims to invest in high-quality stocks over the long term (defined as three-to-five years+). The portfolio is relatively concentrated, with between 50 and 70 holdings. The team believes the number of holdings is adequately concentrated to provide sufficient stock-specific risk for alpha generation while being large enough to achieve the desired broad sector and regional neutrality in portfolio positioning. The team looks for stocks that have high returns on equity and/or high sustainability of revenue and returns. The strategy has historically exhibited a slight growth bias.

The approach is designed to capitalise on alpha generation opportunities among smaller companies by exploiting the inefficiencies which result from a lack of information and investor interest. There is a particular focus on uncovering undervalued quality stocks at prices below their intrinsic value. Macro factors are not taken into consideration directly, but indirectly via assumptions used in valuation models. We do not engage in thematic or momentum investing.

Performance Review

The Fund returned -4.07% in sterling terms, net of fees, over H1 2025, underperforming the benchmark by 228 basis points (bps). The underperformance was driven by stock selection in Materials and Health Care. These offset the positive contributions from our stock selection in Financials, our overweight position in Materials and our zero-weight in Energy.

Axon Enterprise, Palomar Holdings and VZ Holdings were the largest individual contributors to relative returns over the period. Axon rose after reporting better-than-expected 2024 and Q1 2025 results and raising guidance. Axon have delivered impressive booking momentum, and their expanding portfolio supports their guidance. Palomar rose after reporting better-than-expected earnings results. Its insurance premiums have grown, and it is benefitting from increased market penetration in newer lines such as casualty and crop. VZ holdings rose after reporting strong quarterly results and was boosted by the announcement of the 90-day pause.

Samsonite Group, Azenta and Azelis were the largest individual detractors over the period. Samsonite fell as it was impacted by the reciprocal tariffs imposed by the Trump administration. Despite posting two quarters of inline results and confirming guidance, Azenta fell. The share price has been impacted by Chinese restrictions on gene technologies, the proposed changes to NIH research grants and tariff concerns. Azelis fell after investment group EQT sold shares at a discount in February. The share price fell further after reporting worse-than-expected quarterly results.

Outlook

The market is now discounting the impact of tariffs, assuming that President Trump will no longer take actions that will rock markets. The concern now is more how the consumer will react and how government yields price in a deteriorating fiscal environment in the US. Whilst there are short-term effects in inflation data due to trading activity ahead of Liberation Day, we believe that the trend is downward which is positive for short-term rates. The passing of the pending Tax Bill in the US should also be stimulative in that it will allow spending to go ahead as well as reducing taxation. The main risks for the fund are a retrenching consumer and continued weak growth.

Investment Strategy

The Federated Hermes Global SMID Equity Engagement Fund is a small and mid-cap investment product that aims to produce above-benchmark investment return while also delivering a positive social and environmental impact.

The investment team seeks to invest in high-quality stocks with an engagement thesis with a long-term investment horizon. The team also analyses companies to establish which of the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) apply to each potential investment, and what more a company could do to contribute to those goals.

The team will then engage with the management teams of the respective companies that have been chosen for inclusion in the Fund to encourage companies to, for example, change business practices, manage their supply chain better, or develop new products that have been identified by the team as necessary to improve progress towards the goals. Furthermore, the team, in collaboration with EOS, the stewardship part of the business, helps to facilitate this by communicating industry best practice, advising on reporting and disclosure, and, where relevant, introducing third parties to assist companies in their efforts.

The investment process is based on bottom-up fundamental analysis. The team believes that excess returns are strongest, and most consistently generated, by concentrating on stock-specific risks and not by taking significant regional or sectoral positions. This is reflected in the Fund's risk profile, which is skewed towards stock selection, to maximise the portfolio's exposure to the team's stock analysis, including SDG impact. The investment team has extensive local market knowledge and operates on a regional basis.

Each potential holding is subject to rigorous due diligence, which results in both an investment and an engagement thesis. The latter will detail the proposed ongoing engagement activity together with appropriate milestones. This will then be further enhanced and, following discussion with company management, will be formalised into a plan for monitoring. The impact from engagement is measured and reported on a semi-annual basis.

Performance Review

The Fund returned -8.23% over H1 2025 (in sterling), underperforming the benchmark by 865 basis points (bps). At the stock level, the greatest contributors were Technogym, Silicon Laboratories and Horiba. Technogym rose after reporting better-than-expected 2024 results and confidence that it will outpace market growth in 2025. The robust cash generation further strengthened the company's balance sheet supporting an extraordinary dividend payment. The share price was further supported by investors shifting focus to European equities due to concerns about the US and positive momentum from the German fiscal plan. Silicon Laboratories rose after reporting inline quarterly results and management raised guidance. Momentum in Silicon Laboratories shares continued as investors gained confidence in a recovery in the second half of the year. Horiba rose after posting better-than expected 2024 results and guidance for 2025 that was viewed as optimistic.

Samsonite Group, Varun Beverages (no longer held) and West Pharmaceuticals were the top three stock-level detractors. Samsonite fell as it was impacted by the reciprocal tariffs imposed by the Trump administration. Despite reporting strong quarterly results, Varun declined on broader market sentiment and valuation concerns and worse-than-expected quarterly results. West Pharmaceuticals fell due to disappointing 2025 guidance despite better-than-expected quarterly results. We believe that this is an outsized reaction given that the areas highlighted by management are small profit areas. West Pharmaceuticals should benefit from their increasing penetration of high value product trends in biologics and genetics and growth driven by Annex 1 (EU guidelines for the manufacturing of sterile medicinal products) and GLP-1. The share price has started to recover, highlighting that it might have been oversold.

Market Review

The period was marked by resilience in global equity markets, despite a backdrop of heightened volatility and geopolitical uncertainty. While US equities delivered solid gains, they were notably outpaced by several Developed and Emerging Market regions, particularly in USD terms.

The resilient performance of equity markets came despite a sharp sell-off in April, triggered by the announcement of new US tariffs. The sell-off was followed by a strong rebound driven by optimism around trade negotiations, robust earnings, and continued enthusiasm for Al innovation. The rally was notably concentrated, with mega-cap tech and communication services stocks, such as Meta and Netflix, delivering outsized gains. Growth stocks outpaced value across most segments, reversing early-year trends that had favoured defensive sectors.

Outside of the US, European stocks posted gains, supported by dollar weakness, strong corporate earnings and more accommodative monetary policy. Emerging Market equities also performed well despite negative trade headlines, outperforming US equites. In this environment, the benchmark MSCI All Country World Index IMI Net (MSCI ACWI) returned –2.01% in GBP terms over the period (YTD to 3 June 2025).

Investment Strategy

The Federated Hermes Impact Opportunities Equity Fund is a high-conviction global equity strategy. The strategy is built from the bottom up and unconstrained by the benchmark and thus exhibits a high active share.

Through careful stock selection, we aim to create a portfolio capable of generating attractive long-term financial returns alongside delivering clear, positive impacts on society and the planet. Our Impact investing strategy goes beyond risk mitigation and invests in companies that are tackling the unmet needs of society and the environment, and as such are exposed to structural growth opportunities and sources of enduring demand. We take a thematic approach and seek to capture opportunities which are created by mega trends. Through assessing the UN Sustainable Development Goals' (SDGs) underlying targets, we have alighted on nine key impact themes which are investable.

From a sector perspective, the largest overweight exposure is in Industrials and Health Care, while the Fund's largest underweights are across Financials, Communication Services and the Consumer sectors (Discretionary and Staples).

We initiated two new positions in ASM International and Clean Harbors over the period. We exited three positions in Syncona, Vestas Wind Systems and AbCellera Biologics.

ASM is a European multinational corporation that specialises in the design, manufacturing, sales and service of semiconductor wafer processing using advanced technologies. ASM is able to drive significant energy savings to its customers through semiconductor process node transitions. Clean Harbors, North America's leading provider of environmental and industrial services, provides positive environmental impact by providing services that are key in preventing the release of hazardous materials and promoting recycling, reuse, and reclamation.

We exited a roughly 30 basis points (bps) position in Syncona amid declining conviction and lack of catalysts. We exited Vestas Wind Systems due to weakening demand trends, and increased competition from China. AbCellera Biologics was exited due to declining conviction amidst greater uncertainty around biotech development.

Performance Review

The Fund returned –2.38% (net, GBP, YTD to 3 June 2025) over the period, underperforming its benchmark MSCI ACWI IMI Net by 38bps. Stock selection in Information Technology and the Fund's overweight in Industrials contributed the most over the period. In terms of key detractors, stock selection in Health Care and Industrials hurt relative performance the most.

At the stock-level, Brambles, Cintas and CrowdStrike contributed the most. Not owning Apple was also a key contributor. Brambles' share price increased over the quarter as several analysts raised price targets. The company also posted strong 1H25 results, with the revenue outlook showing signs of incremental improvement. Cintas benefitted in Q1 after the workplace uniform provider gave full-year earnings per share guidance that beat analyst estimates. CrowdStrike's shares traded higher after the company announced an expansion of its Google Cloud partnership to enable end-to-end security for Al innovation.

IQVIA, Tetra Tech and Novo Nordisk detracted the most. IQVIA's share price declined due to macro challenges, particularly in relation to the pharmaceutical sector, increasing uncertainty and dampening investor sentiment on the stock. Tetra Tech remained weak post-election, with continued uncertainty due to the expected impact of the federal business and US government programme work being paused. Novo Nordisk's share price fell due to investor concerns over the absence of an acceleration in prescription data for Wegovy, following the end of supply shortages in late February.

Outlook

Towards the end of the period, the easing of trade tensions bolstered market sentiment. However, persistent geopolitical worries and impending trade deadlines present potential risks to equities if unresolved. While cautious optimism currently prevails, economic data and policy signals will likely play a key role in shaping market sentiment going forward.

Federated Hermes Unconstrained Credit Fund

Market Review

2025 got off to a good start, which was short lived as uncertainty around Trumponomic policies – targeted tariffs, DOGE scrutiny, "drill baby drill" supply worries and unsettling America first campaigns – took centre stage. This all caused unease in the great American exceptionalism trade, driving US sovereign yields down together with a rally in other haven assets like US Treasuries and gold. Europe, on the other hand, made headway with its ratecutting cycle. More prominent was the announcement from Germany's newly-elected government to increase its fiscal spending, causing a notable shift in sentiment between the US and Europe. This gave investors hope that austerity within the region could end soon, with sovereign yields up and a notable pick up in risky assets like high yield and investment-grade credit. By the end of the first quarter, however, investors came off the pedal completely and were in risk-off mode as they waited for the great US Liberation Day (2 April), at which the US president was expected to announce global trade tariffs.

Volatility, uncertainty and geopolitical tensions continued to be key themes, beginning with April's sharp market swings following the Liberation Day announcement of US global trade tariffs. The S&P 500 experienced both its worst and best days in years – falling 19% from its February peak to then recovering 24% by the end of June – while bond and currency markets saw historic moves. However, sentiment improved after a 90-day tariff extension was announced, helping equities and credit markets recover. Treasury yields, however, rose sharply and remained so as renewed fiscal worries following the US credit rating downgrades and debate over Trump's "One Big Beautiful Bill". By the end of the quarter, geopolitical risks resurfaced as conflict between Israel and Iran briefly spiked oil prices, though a swift ceasefire calmed markets. Despite these headwinds, global economic data remained robust, inflation surprised to the downside, and markets continued to price in Federal Reserve rate cuts by period-end.

Investment Strategy

Throughout the first half of the period, we actively participated in the primary market, adding new positions at attractive levels amid strong credit market technicals and investor demand. We focused on selective top-ups and strategic rotations, particularly from bonds to credit default swaps (CDS) in the autos sector and within capital structures to optimise duration and value. Notable moves included currency rotation in a UK auto repair issuer and building positions in the auto parts space. Market volatility followed the Liberation Day tariff announcement in the second half of the period, but our conviction in high-quality issuers allowed us to take advantage of dislocations. We added promising names like Restaurant Brands International, Energizer, and Open Text Corp, and remained active in the financials primary market. Overall, we continued to refine our positioning through selective risk additions, capital structure reallocations, and sector-specific switches, enhancing the portfolio's risk-reward profile while maintaining a disciplined approach to valuation.

With the market continuing to compress in June we topped up our protection, adding a payer spread position on iTraxx crossover with September expiry. As news of the conflict in the Middle East between Iran and Israel picked up, we also bought back the funding leg on our short dated iTraxx main payer spread position expiring in July. This left us with a very convex and macro-sensitive hedge should the market sentiment have deteriorated materially.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Unconstrained Credit Fund generated a return of +4.95% (USD, gross of fees), +4.68% net of fees.

From a sector perspective, all allocations were positive with basic industry, banking and capital goods being key contributors to absolute returns.

At the individual holdings level, positions in Walgreens Boots Alliance (retail), Societe Generale (banking) and Centene Corp (Health Care) contributed the most to absolute performance, whereas positions in VF Corp (retail), Xerox (technology) and Olympus Water (basic industry) detracted the most.

From a regional perspective, all allocations were positive with North America, Western Europe and the UK being primary contributors to absolute returns.

From a credit ratings perspective, all allocations were positive with BBB and BB-rated securities being principal contributors to absolute performance.

Outlook

We remain neutral duration in recognition that the future path of interest rates is not going to be straightforward, whilst we maintain a preference for steeper curves in the US. While growth has been resilient, ongoing uncertainty around higher tariffs is yet to feed into hard economic data. Meanwhile, sentiment and expectations data in the US suggest a reduction in confidence in the US economy, while Europe may see some growth benefit on the back of its plans for increased defence spending. We expect tariff uncertainty to continue to be a driver of markets in the near term, creating opportunities across regions, sectors and issuers.

Corporate balance sheets for the most part remain in decent shape, though companies have been cautious in giving forward-looking guidance. We expect companies to act rationally should fundamentals deteriorate and to take defensive measures to the balance sheet and preserve equity value, such as reducing capex programmes. Credit technicals continue to be very resilient and we have seen strong supply for May and June easily absorbed as investors looked to put money to work. We expect this trend to continue as high all in yields and low volatility continue to attract money to the asset class despite tight spreads. With spreads back around the tights, we favour a defensive sector and credit quality allocation and remain cautious on highly levered parts of the market as we head into the second half of 2025. Credit selection is likely to be increasingly important as we await more data to confirm the impact of tariffs on the US economy.

Market Review

2025 got off to a good start, which was short lived as uncertainty around Trumponomic policies – targeted tariffs, DOGE scrutiny, "drill baby drill" supply worries and unsettling America first campaigns – took centre stage. This all caused unease in the great American exceptionalism trade, driving US sovereign yields down together with a rally in other haven assets like US Treasuries and gold. Europe, on the other hand, made headway with its ratecutting cycle. More prominent was the announcement from Germany's newly-elected government to increase its fiscal spending, causing a notable shift in sentiment between the US and Europe. This gave investors hope that austerity within the region could end soon, with sovereign yields up and a notable pick up in risky assets like high yield and investment-grade credit. By the end of the first quarter, however, investors came off the pedal completely and were in risk-off mode as they waited for the great US Liberation Day (2 April), at which the US president was expected to announce global trade tariffs.

Volatility, uncertainty and geopolitical tensions continued to be key themes, beginning with April's sharp market swings following the Liberation Day announcement of US global trade tariffs. The S&P 500 experienced both its worst and best days in years – falling 19% from its February peak to then recovering 24% by the end of June – while bond and currency markets saw historic moves. However, sentiment improved after a 90-day tariff extension was announced, helping equities and credit markets recover. Treasury yields, however, rose sharply and remained so as renewed fiscal worries following the US credit rating downgrades and debate over Trump's "One Big Beautiful Bill". By the end of the quarter, geopolitical risks resurfaced as conflict between Israel and Iran briefly spiked oil prices, though a swift ceasefire calmed markets. Despite these headwinds, global economic data remained robust, inflation surprised to the downside, and markets continued to price in Federal Reserve rate cuts by period-end.

Investment Strategy

Throughout the period, we actively managed risk and positioning across the portfolio, capitalising on strong credit market technicals and selective opportunities in both primary and secondary markets. We added exposure through new issues where valuations were compelling, rotated into credit default swaps (CDS) in sectors like autos, and extended duration in capital structures offering attractive relative value. Within Financials, we optimised our holdings by reallocating among subordinated instruments. Despite periods of volatility—most notably in April following tariff-related headlines—we maintained conviction in high-quality issuers and used market dislocations to add selectively. We continued to refine our positioning by rotating within capital structures and sectors, including Utilities, auto parts, and Consumer Staples, while also introducing new issuers with strong engagement potential.

Performance review

The Federated Hermes Global High Yield Credit Engagement Fund generated a return of +4.65% (USD, gross of fees), outperforming its benchmark by 27 basis points. The Fund generated a return of +4.27% USD, net of fees.

The Fund's overweight positioning in banking, basic industry and Utilities were top contributors to its overall relative performance in the period under review. In contrast, underweight positioning in Energy, Real Estate and financial services were the biggest detractors on a sector basis.

At an individual holdings level, the Fund's overweight to Liberty Global (telecommunications), Clearway Energy (Utilities) and Ball Corp (capital goods) contributed the most to relative returns. However, the Fund's lack of exposure to Pemex (Energy) and Altice International (telecommunications), as well as an underweight position to Charter Communications (media), detracted the most from relative returns.

At the regional level, the Fund's overweight positioning to Western Europe and the Pacific, as well as an underweight to the UK, was the top contributor to relative performance. In contrast, its positioning to North America, Asia and a lack of exposure to the Middle East detracted the most.

From a ratings perspective, the Fund's overweight allocations to BB-rated securities and higher contributed the most to relative performance, whilst its underweight to B-rated securities and below detracted over the period.

Outlook

We remain neutral duration in recognition that the future path of interest rates is not going to be straightforward, whilst we maintain a preference for steeper curves in the US. While growth has been resilient, ongoing uncertainty around higher tariffs is yet to feed into hard economic data. Meanwhile, sentiment and expectations data in the US suggest a reduction in confidence in the US economy, while Europe may see some growth benefit on the back of its plans for increased defence spending. We expect tariff uncertainty to continue to be a driver of markets in the near term, creating opportunities across regions, sectors and issuers.

Corporate balance sheets for the most part remain in decent shape, though companies have been cautious in giving forward-looking guidance. We expect companies to act rationally should fundamentals deteriorate and to take defensive measures to the balance sheet and preserve equity value, such as reducing capex programmes. #### Market Review

For the six months ended 30 June 2025, the high yield market outperformed the investment-grade bond market. For example, the ICE BofA High Yield 2% Issuer Constrained index (HUC0) returned 4.55% versus a 4.19% return for the ICE BofA US Corporate Index (C0A0), a measure of high-quality bond performance. Spreads have been very volatile throughout the year to date. The year began with spreads tightening to average spreads nearing all time tights. Things quickly changed as economic concerns driven by tariff fears dominated market action for risk assets to include high yield bonds. However, those fears proved short lived as economic uncertainty gave way to potential progress on reducing the proposed increase in tariffs, optimism that the Federal Reserve would eventually lower interest rates, a resilient jobs market and relatively stable inflation, albeit above target. From a high-yield bond perspective, strong support to the market was provided by solid demand for higher yielding securities, modest default rates and earnings that remained flat, even if not robust.

Within the high yield market, the strongest performing major industry sectors relative to the HUC0 index were Real Estate, Healthcare and Telecommunications. The worst performing major industry sectors relative to the HUC0 index were Transportation, Energy and Banking. From a credit quality perspective, high quality rated bonds outperformed lower quality rated bonds with the BB rated sector returning 4.97%, B-rated sectors returning 4.19% and CCC-rated sectors returning 3.58%.

Investment Strategy

Our investment approach remains focused on security selection over duration (a measure of sensitivity of a bond's price to a change of interest rates) or yield curve. We believe performance in the US high yield market is driven by credit during the majority of periods. We continue to evaluate credits based on bottom-up fundamental analysis, with a bias towards companies that can produce predictable, consistent free cash flow. We view ourselves as ratings-agency agnostic, preferring to focus on our view of the strength of an underlying business, versus agency ratings. During the period, our largest overweight positions were in the Technology and Electronics and Insurance sectors. Our largest underweight positions were in the Telecommunications and Energy sectors.

Performance Review

During the period, Federated Hermes US High Yield Credit Fund ouperformed the index. Outperformance was driven by an underweight position to the underperforming Energy sector, positive security selection in the Retail sector and positive security selection in the Technology and Electronics sector. This was partially offset by negative security selection in the Healthcare sector, a sector underweight in the Real Estate sector, which outperformed, and negative security selection in the Automotive sector as well as the drag on performance from cash holdings.

The top five contributing companies that we owned included Virgin Media, Dun & Bradstreet, Minerva Merger Sub (FKA Athena Healthcare), Madison IAQ, and Gray Media. The bottom contributing companies that we owned included Condor Merger Sub (FKA McAfee), Bausch Health, Neogen Food Safety, Olympus Water, and Ford Motor Credit.

Outlook

The high yield market has proved very resilient in the face of tariffs, wars and overall economic concerns. When spreads widened in early April 2025, we became somewhat less defensive on the high yield market overall as spreads approached historical medians. However, that bout of nervousness soon passed, and spreads moved significantly tighter for the balance of the second quarter. As the third quarter begins, high yield credit spreads have moved back to well below historical medians making valuations less compelling than early in the period. However, the complexity and uncertainty surrounding the global macroeconomic landscape remains difficult, leading us to continue to be somewhat cautious regarding the high yield market.

Market Review

The first half of 2025 was marked by resilience in global equity markets, despite a backdrop of heightened volatility and geopolitical uncertainty. While US equities delivered solid gains, they were notably outpaced by several Developed and Emerging Market regions, particularly in USD terms.

The resilient performance of equity markets came despite a sharp sell-off in April, triggered by the announcement of new US tariffs. The sell-off was followed by a strong rebound driven by optimism around trade negotiations, robust earnings, and continued enthusiasm for Al innovation. The rally was notably concentrated, with mega-cap tech and communication services stocks—such as Meta and Netflix—delivering outsized gains. Growth stocks outpaced value across most segments, reversing early-year trends that had favoured defensive sectors.

Outside of the US, European stocks posted gains, supported by US dollar weakness, strong corporate earnings and more accommodative monetary policy. Emerging Market equities also performed well despite negative trade headlines, outperforming US equities. In this environment, the benchmark MSCI All Country World Index ND (MSCI ACWI) returned 0.58% in sterling terms for the first half of 2025.

Investment Strategy

The Federated Hermes Sustainable Global Equity Fund is a high-conviction global equity strategy. It aims to generate attractive financial returns by investing in companies that are aligned with achieving positive outcomes for society and the environment, broadly aligned with the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

The Fund is a concentrated, high active-share fund. We believe that 'impactful', 'leading' and 'improving' companies all play a critical role in contributing towards a more sustainable future and are well-positioned to benefit from structural sustainability trends over the long-term. We believe sustainable investments are companies with a business model creating value for society, with a positive or improving sustainability profile, and whose activities have an overall positive impact through their products and services. Our long-term holding periods and stewardship expertise enable us to develop effective long-term engagement with these companies that can deliver additional impact and provide greater insight.

From a sector perspective, the Fund remains overweight Industrials, Information Technology and Healthcare, and underweight Consumer Discretionary, Communication Services, with zero-weights in Energy and Utilities.

Over the period, we added five positions in in Clean Harbors, ServiceNow, T-Mobile, Nasdaq, and Linde. We exited two positions in Wex and Gartner.

Clean Harbors is North America's leading provider of environmental and industrial services. ServiceNow is a cloud-based platform that automates IT service management and streamlines business processes. T-Mobile is a major telecommunications company that provides wireless voice, messaging and data services. Nasdaq is a global technology company that operates multiple stock exchanges and provides financial technology, trading and market services. Linde is a leading global industrial gases and engineering company, actively advancing blue hydrogen technology.

Wex was sold on the back of structural concerns following two profit warnings and macroeconomic headwinds. Conviction in Gartner declined due to lagging contract value growth and potential disruptions from rapid Al advancements.

Performance Review

The Fund returned –2.86% (net, GBP) underperforming its benchmark MSCI ACWI by 342bps. Quarter one 2025 was a challenging period for the Fund, particularly as shifts in sentiment and doubts around US tech led to underperformance from previous top performers (like Nvidia, TSMC, and Microsoft). Performance improved in the second quarter, and the Fund ended Q2 broadly in line with the benchmark. Outperformance in April and May was largely driven by the Fund's quality bias, which proved advantageous amidst elevated market volatility and uncertainty. In contrast, June proved more challenging as a shift towards risk-on sentiment saw many quality-oriented and defensive names trailing.

Stock selection in Industrials, Health Care and Information Technology were the largest detractors in the first half of 2025 on a relative basis. Our underweight in Communication Services also detracted. This offset positive contributions from overweight in Industrials and underweight in Consumer Discretionary.

At a stock-level; Republic Services, Grupo Financiero Banorte and RELX contributed the most to relative performance. Not owning Apple and Tesla also contributed meaningfully. Republic Services rose after reporting strong results for 2024, with better-than-expected EBITDA, cash flow and EPS growth. Grupo Financiero Banorte's strong performance was underpinned by the bank's solid fundamentals and its ability to expand its loan book even in a stagnant GDP environment. This was further supported by an improving macro backdrop, including rising wages, increased SME lending, and easing concerns around tariffs. RELX's shares gained after the company issued positive Q1 sales guidance, announcing that the year had started well across all four business areas. The company's improving long term growth trajectory continues to be driven by an ongoing shift in business mix towards higher growth analytics and decision tools.

Thermo Fisher, Gartner and Novo Nordisk detracted the most. Thermo Fisher shares were impacted by concerns over US policy and tariffs, though the company remains well-positioned for long-term structural trends in healthcare. Gartner's share price fell, due to concerns over US government spending cuts (including on consulting contracts with Gartner) and longer-term concerns around potential disruption from AI advancements. Novo Nordisk fell due to investor concerns over the absence of an acceleration in prescription data for Wegovy, following the end of supply shortages in late February.

Outlook

Towards the end of the period, the easing of trade tensions bolstered market sentiment. However, persistent geopolitical tensions and impending trade deadlines present potential risks to equities if unresolved. While cautious optimism currently prevails, economic data and policy signals will likely play a key role in shaping market sentiment going forward.

In this environment of increased volatility and uncertainty, we continue to focus on company fundamentals. We believe the quality tilt of the portfolio positions us well amidst ongoing complexity. Earnings durability, balance sheet strength, margins, and return on capital will remain key elements in our analysis. Additionally, we remain confident that the Fund's unique approach to sustainable investing (across leading, impactful and improving companies) provides the diversification to navigate changing market environments going forward.

Investment Strategy

Throughout the first half of the period, we actively participated in the primary market, adding new positions at attractive levels amid strong credit market technicals and investor demand. We focused on selective top-ups and strategic rotations, particularly from bonds to CDS in the Autos sector and within capital structures to optimise duration and value. Notable moves included currency rotation in a UK auto repair issuer and building positions in the auto parts space. Market volatility followed the Liberation Day tariff announcement in the second half, but our conviction in high-quality issuers allowed us to take advantage of dislocations. We topped up positions in technology and Health Care, added promising names like Open Text Corp and Restaurant Brands International, and remained active in the financials primary market. Overall, we continued to refine our positioning through selective risk additions, capital structure reallocations, and sector-specific switches, enhancing the portfolio's risk-reward profile while maintaining a disciplined approach to valuation.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Climate Change High Yield Credit Fund (USD, gross of fees) generated a return of +4.56%, underperforming its benchmark by 15 basis points. The fund generated +4.01% USD, net of fees.

The Fund's overweight positioning in banking and retail, as well as an underweight position to transportation, contributed the most to relative performance. In contrast, underweight positioning in Real Estate, media and financial services detracted the most.

At the individual holdings level, the Fund's overweight exposure to Walgreens Boots Alliance (retail) and Liberty Global (media), as well as a lack of exposure to Azul (transportation), boosted its relative return the most, while its lack of exposure to Charter Comms (media) and Altice International (telecommunications), as well as an overweight to Xerox (technology), detracted the most.

At the regional level, the Fund's overweight positioning to Western Europe and the UK, as well as an underweight position to Latin America contributed the most to relative performance. In contrast, underweight exposure to North America and Asia, as well as a lack of exposure to the Middle East, detracted the most.

From a ratings perspective, the Fund's overweight positioning in BB and above-rated securities positively impacted relative performance the most, whilst its significant underweight positioning in single-B rated issues, and below, detracted the most.

Europe, on the other hand made head way with its rate-cutting cycle. More prominent was the announcement from Germany's newly-elected government, to increase its fiscal spending, causing a notable shift in sentiment between the US and Europe. Throughout the period, we actively reallocated risk to capture opportunities from market volatility and attractive valuations. We initiated positions in Sri Lanka post-restructuring and in Ghana, supported by strong export performance, while increasing exposure to Argentina, El Salvador, Egypt, and African sovereigns like Senegal, reflecting positive macro and political developments. We trimmed exposure to Türkiye following political unrest and took profits in Oman and Serbia due to stretched valuations. Our strategy included rotating out of High Yield corporates into Brazilian and Colombian sovereigns, extending duration via long-dated GCC credits, and selectively adding to distressed names. As volatility eased, we trimmed sovereign exposure in Angola and Morocco, and corporate exposure in Turkey, while increasing allocations to Egypt, Turkey, Mexico, Brazil, and Ecuador, driven by compelling valuations and improving political outlooks. In Argentina, we rotated into shorter-dated bonds to reduce duration and capture attractive coupons, and in Colombia, we added exposure as the election offers an opportunity for political transition which could see bonds tighten. We also increased our Pemex position, supported by low valuations and a reform plan backed by the presidency.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Emerging Markets Debt Fund (Z USD, net of fees) generated a return of +5.07%, underperforming its benchmark by 58bps. The F share class returned +4.80% net of fees. The JPM EM Global Diversified index returned +5.64% with EM Hard currency Sovereigns (+5.64%) outperforming Local currency bonds (+5.43%) and Hard currency Corporates (+4.03%).

The Fund's relative underperformance was largely driven by its underweight to the Philippines, which felt some relief after its trade deficit narrowed substantially on imports compression. The overweight to Senegal also detracted as higher fiscal revisions and gross financing needs caused investor concerns on medium-term debt sustainability, potentially impacting its SLA with the IMF. The underweight to Ukraine detracted as woes around any sign of ceasefire diminish. Inflation jumped again, increasing sharply in May pushing headline print higher than expected.

The Fund's overweight to Brazil contributed the most to relative returns as the central bank (BCB) hiked its policy rate by 25bp and signalled the end of the cycle. In addition, the sovereign's June CPI came in below expectations, its third consecutive release, reinforcing its declining trend. The overweight to Egypt also contributed as CPI surprised to the upside in May (16.8%) and Investor sentiment was also positive due to strong remittances as well as a wider hydrocarbon deficit, strengthening the sovereign's commitment to change. Lastly, the overweight to Nigeria contributed as May inflation eased to 23% and investor sentiment was positive as the county remains on its path to reform; having implemented a number of FX, oil sector and fiscal reforms. A weaker dollar and developed market rate cuts also bode well, further allaying any nervousness.

Outlook

With global sovereign and corporate credit spreads at multi-year lows, we maintain a constructive view on Emerging Market Debt (EMD) in 2025. We believe that the tight valuations are largely justified reflecting the asset class's resilience through the Covid-induced inflationary shock and a prolonged period of restrictive global monetary policy – while recording minimal defaults.

The external macro environment appears supportive of Emerging Market Debt and we anticipate that moderating global growth and inflation coupled with continued monetary easing by the U.S. Federal Reserve and other major central Banks will reinforce the appeal of attractive EM yields.

Although geopolitical risks remain elevated - including uncertainty around a new U.S. administration and anaemic growth in China - we see strong potential for outperformance in 2025 through a combination of frontier and core EM names. Within frontier markets, we continue to favour Sub-Saharan African credits, supported by improving credit fundamentals, attractive valuations, and diversification benefits amid broader macro headwinds.

Investment Strategy

The Federated Hermes Biodiversity Equity Fund is a high-conviction global equity strategy. The Fund aims to achieve capital growth over a rolling five-year period by investing in companies that are helping to protect and restore biodiversity, or are reducing the threat to biodiversity through their measurable contribution to reducing one or more of the following: land pollution, marine pollution and exploitation, unsustainable living, climate change, unsustainable farming, or deforestation.

We believe that companies that include biodiversity considerations within their business strategies and/or as part of their risk mitigation strategies should have better long-term risk adjusted profiles, given the huge systemic risk biodiversity loss poses to the world. With increasing awareness and regulation around biodiversity, companies providing solutions, or leading the way through their operations, to reduce harm and protect biodiversity should benefit from material tailwinds, such as increased spending by governing bodies and the private sector as the theme comes further into focus.

From a sector perspective, the largest overweight exposure remains in Industrials and Materials, while the Fund is underweight Information Technology, Financials, Communication Services and the Consumer sectors.

Over the period, we initiated six new positions in Microsoft, Jerónimo Martins, CVS Group American Water Works, TopBuild and Pandora. We exited three positions in Kering, Fortune Brands and Bioceres Solutions.

Microsoft is a US-based software company leveraging AI to support biodiversity, such as through Project Guacamaya, which monitors deforestation and wildlife in the Amazon. Jerónimo Martins, a Portugal-based food retailer with operations in Poland and Colombia, focuses on responsible sourcing and sustainable food production by engaging suppliers on raw material origins. CVS Group is a leading veterinary services provider in the UK and Australia. It plays a key role in reducing antimicrobial use in pets, helping combat antimicrobial resistance (AMR), and runs programmes to reduce and safely dispose of antibiotics. American Water Works (AWW) is the largest water utility in the US, serving over 14 million people. Its scale positions it to lead industry consolidation, with state legislation potentially supporting growth through higher standards and rate increases. Pandora, the world's largest jewellery retailer, leads in circular luxury by using 100% recycled silver and gold and entering the lab-grown diamond market. Its asset-light model supports growth through store and collection expansion. TopBuild installs and distributes insulation in the US and Canada. Its products reduce energy demand, especially in summer, helping cut electricity use and carbon emissions from air conditioning.

We closed out of our position in Kering due to declining conviction following a disappointing choice of the new designer of Gucci, a key brand for the firm, and the broader lack of macroeconomic recovery in key markets. We sold Fortune Brands due to the need for substantial price increases (+6%) to offset potential tariffs, which would likely further impact already weakening demand. We exited Bioceres due to a recovery in sales failing to materialise and a strategy shift away from plant seeding and breeding operations.

Performance Review

The Fund returned –4.72% (net, GBP YTD to 3 June 2025) over the period, underperforming its benchmark MSCI ACWI IMI Net by 277 basis points. Our overweight in Industrials, underweight in Information Technology and stock selection in Financials contributed the most. Conversely, the largest detractors were our underweight in Financials and stock selection within Materials.

At a stock-level; SPIE, AXA and RELX contributed the most. Not owning Apple was also a key contributor. SPIE gained over the period as the company posted solid results and reiterated its FY25 outlook of strong total growth. AXA's share price increased, with S&P Global Ratings revising the company's outlook from stable to positive. RELX's shares gained after the company issued positive Q1 sales guidance, announcing that the year had started well across all four business areas. The company's improving long-term growth trajectory continues to be driven by an ongoing shift in business mix towards higher growth analytics and decision tools.

Thermo Fisher Scientific, SOITEC and Trex detracted the most. Thermo Fisher continued to be impacted by broader concerns around the potential impact of US policy and tariffs. SOITEC posted disappointing results, with sales coming in around 10% shy of consensus and a downgrade to the FY25 outlook. Trex underperformed despite signs of improving demand in April across both premium and entry-level decking products, as investor concerns persisted regarding broader end-market trends and the potential impact of tariffs later in the year.

Towards the end of the period, the easing of trade tensions bolstered market sentiment. ### Federated Hermes China Equity Fund

Market Review

The benchmark MSCI China All Shares Net Total Return Index returned 2.15% over the period, in Sterling terms. Heightened uncertainty from unpredictable US trade policy and a global reassessment of technology leadership dampened US growth expectations, prompting investors to seek opportunities outside of developed markets. A weakening US dollar and falling Treasury yields supported Asian markets. After a dip in April following President Trump's "Liberation Day" announcement, sentiment rebounded in May on trade progress and US dollar weakness.

Chinese equities advanced on improved sentiment toward tech firms, especially after DeepSeek's open-source Al breakthrough, which challenged global Al leadership assumptions. Hints of more supportive policy from Beijing also helped. Despite ongoing tariff tensions and weak economic data, state support and central bank easing lifted mainland equities. Hong Kong outperformed the mainland, driven by large-cap tech stocks.

Investment Strategy

We maintain an overweight position in H Shares (Hong Kong-listed companies) and US-listed Chinese companies (ADRs), while holding an underweight position in A Shares (mainland China-listed companies). This is due to the more attractive valuations of H Shares and US-listed ADRs.

We initiated positions in Shanghai M&G Stationery and Wuliangye Yibin. M&G, a leading Chinese stationery firm, shows early recovery from product and channel reforms, supported by a strong balance sheet and rising dividends. Wuliangye, a premium baijiu brand, trades at an attractive valuation, with discounts driven by overly bearish sentiment on short-term industry challenges.

We added Yadea Group, China's leading electric two-wheeler manufacturer, benefiting from strong domestic demand and rising electrification trends. We also initiated WH Group, a Hong Kong-listed food company with improving earnings from market share gains and cost optimisation in Europe and the US.

In Japan, we added gaming company Nexon, poised to benefit from a recovery in key titles. We also added Pigeon, a leading baby care brand with strong positions in China and Japan and growing presence in Southeast Asia and Western markets. Despite declining birth rates, Pigeon has resumed growth through portfolio expansion and market share gains, with profit growth outpacing revenue due to price increases and a favourable product mix.

We bought smart energy and smart utilities metering provider Wasion Holdings. The company is attractively valued, is strengthening its overseas presence and expanding its global footprint given increasing recognition.

We bought ACM Research, a US-listed semiconductor equipment firm with most revenue from China, trading at a discount to its Chinese subsidiary, and Hesai Group, a leading sensor solutions provider poised to benefit from Al-driven growth in smart driving and robotics.

We exited positions with limited upside, including Sinotrans, Anker Innovations, Fu Shou Yuan International, Zhejiang Dingli Machinery, and CoCreation Grass.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 3.82% in sterling terms, net of fees, during the period, outperforming the benchmark MSCI China All Shares Net Total Return by 163 basis points. This was primarily because of stock selection in Industrials, Information Technology, Financials and Health Care. The overweight position to Communication Services and non-exposure to Utilities also contributed. Gains were somewhat offset by stock selection in Communication Services, Consumer Discretionary and Materials, and the overweight to Industrials. The underweight position to Financials also detracted from relative returns.

Xiaomi Corp, China's leading consumer electronics firm and the world's third-largest smartphone maker, rose on a strong 2025 sales forecast, driven by EV expansion, solid order backlogs, and added capacity from a second factory. Additionally, Xiaomi's core smartphone and Internet of Things businesses continue to benefit from market share gains on top of strong industry trends given the Chinese government's consumption stimulus. Futu, a US-listed Hong Kong online brokerage platform catering to Asian investors, outperformed amid strong trading volumes and robust user growth. As a key beneficiary of digital asset initiatives, the rise of crypto trading and the Hong Kong government's push for stablecoin and virtual assets boosted the stock price. Chow Tai Fook Jewellery, a leading luxury group, outperformed as rising gold prices were considered positive for product demand.

The underweight to Alibaba, China's online commerce leader, detracted as the company outperformed due to enthusiasm for its cloud business, following the success of DeepSeek. Trip.Com, a Chinese online travel agency, retreated after its recent strong performance. Despite in-line results, some investors worry about margin pressure from increased spending on international expansion. JD.com, a leading Chinese e-commerce platform, underperformed after recent expansion into the food delivery and travel sector. Investor sentiment weakened due to concerns over rising competition and growth strategy.

Outlook

The US has implemented tariffs that exceeded expectations. If tariffs are better than expected (which we anticipate) it could be positive for equity markets, and vice versa. We see compelling opportunities in Chinese equities, supported by attractive valuations and a backdrop of stabilising corporate earnings. Structural improvements in return on equity are beginning to take hold, reflecting more efficient capital allocation. Additionally, the low-interest rate environment enhances the relative appeal of equities for domestic investors. This is further reinforced by rising dividend payout ratios and an acceleration in share buybacks, signalling a more shareholder-friendly approach among Chinese companies. Chinese authorities are taking a more proactive approach to the stock market, with regulators and policymakers aiming to foster a culture of shareholder returns similar to Japan.

Despite short-term challenges, China's long-term prospects are compelling. The country is emerging as a global leader in key technology sectors, including consumer electronics, electric vehicles, renewable energy, drone technology, and shipbuilding. Its car industry is hurting former formidable international competitors. Its semiconductor industry is rapidly advancing, especially in memory technology. In AI, China boasts strong software capabilities and robust hardware manufacturing infrastructure, second only to the US, which leads in chip design. Regulatory frameworks have enabled China to build extensive domestic manufacturing capacity, unlike the US, which relies heavily on Taiwanese and South Korean suppliers. China's economic transformation is gaining momentum. The real estate sector's share of GDP has declined from over 25% to the high teens, while high-tech and advanced manufacturing are becoming increasingly central.

Federated Hermes Global Emerging Markets ex-China Equity Fund

Market Review

Emerging markets (EMs) excluding China (EMXC) equities gained in the first half of 2025, with the MSCI Emerging Markets ex China Index returning +14.5% in USD (4.67% in sterling terms), underperforming broader emerging markets which returned 15.3% helped by a late rally in Chinese equities and outperforming both the US (+5.5%) and developed markets (+8.6%). Trade policy uncertainty dampened US growth expectations, while China's DeepSeek challenged US exceptionalism. Market sentiment rebounded after an April sell-off triggered by US tariff escalations. A 90-day reprieve and a trade agreement between the US and China helped restore confidence. EM was further supported by a weaker US dollar (-10.7% year to date (YTD)). Spot gold rose 25.9% as investors sought safe havens. EM Growth (+15.6%) slightly outpaced EM Value (+14.7%). Despite strong performance, EM equity flows remain negative YTD (-$13.6bn), with ETF inflows (+$19.5bn) offset by non-ETF outflows (-$33.2bn).

Regional performance was strong across the board. Latin America led with +29.9%, followed by CEEMEA (+16.3%) and Emerging Asia ex China (+12.2%). Top-performing markets included Greece (+60.0%), Poland (+52.1%), and Colombia (+49.8%). Thailand (-13.3%), Turkey (-6.3%), and Indonesia (-4.1%) lagged over growth concerns and political instability. South Korea surged +39% YTD, including +32% in Q2, driven by easing political uncertainty, a stimulus package from the new government, and rising memory chip prices. India underperformed amid valuation concerns, while Taiwan rebounded in Q2 on AI optimism after early weakness tied to trade uncertainty. Eastern European markets rallied on hopes of a Ukraine-Russia ceasefire and in anticipation of policy shifts in Germany/EU, resulting in regional GDP upgrades in the region and a strengthening euro. Mexico (30.8%) and Brazil (29.2%) benefited from trade reprieves and interest rate hikes, respectively. At the sector level, Industrials (26.9%), Communication Services (22.9%), and Financials (19.5%) led, while Health Care (-1.0%), Real Estate (6.6%), and Consumer Discretionary (8.1%) lagged.

Investment Strategy

During the first half of 2025, we initiated several high-conviction positions aligned with long-term structural growth themes. Etihad Etisalat (Mobily), a leading Saudi telecommunications provider, was added for its strong brand, advanced infrastructure, and growing B2B segment. The company is well-positioned to benefit from Saudi Arabia's economic transformation, supported by ongoing fibre rollout and expansion into ICT and fintech services. Plan B Media was added for its dominant position in Thailand's OOH advertising market, diversified media assets, and accretive acquisitions. With strong exposure to tourism and consumer spending, it is well-placed to benefit from rising ad budgets and continued demand for high-impact, nationwide campaigns. Advanced Info Service (AIS), Thailand's leading telecom and technology provider, was added for its broad suite of services including 5G, cloud, and IoT. The company is supported by rising average revenue per user, broadband subscriber growth, and margin expansion. MakeMyTrip (MMYT), India's leading online travel agency, was also added. It is poised to benefit from rising discretionary income, low digital penetration, and strong operating leverage. Silergy, a Taiwan-listed leading power management IC supplier, was reinstated. The company is expected to benefit from shifting global supply chains, strong electric vehicle demand, and supportive China domestic semiconductor policies.

On the sell side, we exited Freeport following a strong rally in copper prices and our production concerns. We sold Voltronic Power and trimmed positions in TSMC, Accton, Lotes and Wiwynn in Q1 to reduce exposure to Taiwan and the technology sector. Press Metal was sold after its margin expansion thesis played out, and Cyient was exited to fund new ideas.

Performance Review

The Fund returned 4.89% in sterling terms (net of fees) during the first half of 2025, outperforming the MSCI Emerging Markets Net Index by 21bps on a gross relative basis. Outperformance was primarily driven by positive country and currency effects, partially offset by weaker stock selection.

Country allocation added value, particularly from overweight positions in Korea and Hungary, underweight positions in Taiwan, India, and Saudi Arabia, and off-benchmark exposure to Canada and France. However, stock selection in Poland, India, Taiwan, South Africa, and Hungary detracted. The Fund's lack of exposure to large outperformers such as SK Hynix and Doosan in Korea also weighed on relative returns.

Positive contributors included Hansol Chemical, which benefited from strong demand for semiconductor materials and a recovery in hydrogen peroxide volumes. Samsung Life rose 31.5% in June on optimism around potential restructuring of the Samsung group to boost transparency and unlock value and dividend hikes, supported by political stability and foreign inflows. Tokai Carbon Korea gained following a Q1 earnings beat, driven by strong demand from Chinese customers and a rebound in NAND volumes.

On the downside, not holding SK Hynix detracted significantly, as the stock rallied on robust demand for high-bandwidth memory (HBM) used in Al. Lotes, a Taiwanese supplier of connectors and sockets mainly focused on the CPU socket market, declined due to delays in NVIDIA's Al GPU rollout, trade-tariff server supply chain concerns, and TWD currency appreciated headwinds. Infosys also underperformed amid continued weakness in discretionary IT spending.

Outlook

Uncertainty around US trade policy and "higher for longer" interest rates is weighing on global economic momentum. Tariffs are disrupting supply chains and dampening consumer demand, while policy volatility and fiscal concerns are pressuring the US dollar and Treasury markets. Although tariffs may eventually ease, the current environment is discouraging enterprise investment and job creation. Despite muted global growth, EMs offer compelling opportunities for quality and growth investors. EM equity positioning remains light, and valuations are attractive relative to developed markets. Many EMs are supported by strong domestic demand, infrastructure investment, and digital transformation. A weaker US dollar also benefits EMs with external funding needs, while prudent macro policies and structural reforms are helping reduce risk premiums.

This environment creates opportunities to invest in high-quality companies with structural growth drivers and pricing power – businesses better equipped to navigate macro headwinds and compound value over time. The Fund is particularly focused on companies enabling technological transformation. Around 50% of the portfolio is allocated to IP-rich businesses across AI infrastructure (chips, servers, liquid cooling, networking, software), industrial technologies (automation, grid digitisation, EV batteries, battery energy storage systems, autonomous driving), as well as providers of AI data centres and information / communication technologies. These companies are well-positioned to benefit from long-term shifts in global productivity and innovation, helping to future-proof the strategy.

Market Review

2025 got off to a good start, which was short lived as uncertainty around Trumponomic policies – targeted tariffs, DOGE scrutiny, "drill baby drill" supply worries and unsettling America first campaigns – took centre stage. This all caused unease in the great American exceptionalism trade, driving US sovereign yields down together with a rally in other haven assets like US Treasuries and gold. Europe, on the other hand, made headway with its ratecutting cycle. More prominent was the announcement from Germany's newly-elected government to increase its fiscal spending, causing a notable shift in sentiment between the US and Europe. This gave investors hope that austerity within the region could end soon, with sovereign yields up and a notable pick up in risky assets like high yield and investment-grade credit. By the end of the first quarter, however, investors came off the pedal completely and were in risk-off mode as they waited for the great US Liberation Day (2 April), at which the US president was expected to announce global trade tariffs.

Volatility, uncertainty and geopolitical tensions continued to be key themes, beginning with April's sharp market swings following the Liberation Day announcement of US global trade tariffs. The S&P 500 experienced both its worst and best days in years – falling 19% from its February peak to then recovering 24% by the end of June – while bond and currency markets saw historic moves. However, sentiment improved after a 90-day tariff extension was announced, helping equities and credit markets recover. Treasury yields, however, rose sharply and remained so as renewed fiscal worries following the US credit rating downgrades and debate over Trump's "One Big Beautiful Bill". By the end of the quarter, geopolitical risks resurfaced as conflict between Israel and Iran briefly spiked oil prices, though a swift ceasefire calmed markets. Despite these headwinds, global economic data remained robust, inflation surprised to the downside, and markets continued to price in Federal Reserve rate cuts by period-end.

Investment Strategy

Throughout the first half of the period, we actively participated in the primary market, adding new positions at attractive levels amid strong credit market technicals and investor demand. We focused on selective top-ups and strategic rotations, particularly a currency rotation in a UK auto repair issuer and building positions in the auto parts space. Market volatility followed the Liberation Day tariff announcement in the second half, but our conviction in high-quality issuers allowed us to take advantage of dislocations. We topped up positions in Health Care and Financials and added promising names like Open Text Corp. Overall we continued to refine our positioning through selective risk additions, capital structure reallocations, and sector-specific switches, enhancing the portfolio's risk-reward profile while maintaining a disciplined approach to valuation.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Sustainable Investment Grade Credit Fund generated a return of +4.35% (USD, gross of fees), outperforming its benchmark by 57 basis points. The Fund generated a return of +4.11% (USD, net of fees).

From a sector perspective, the Fund's overweight position to technology, insurance and Health Care contributed the most to relative returns. In contrast, the Fund's underweight exposure to financial services and Utilities, as well as a lack of exposure to Energy, detracted the most.

At an issuer level, the Fund's overweight positioning to Walgreens Boots Alliance (retail) and Liberty Global (media), as well as a lack of exposure to New Fortress (Energy) contributed the most to relative performance, before giving back some performance with a lack of exposure to Pemex (Energy), Altice International (telecommunications) and Bausch Health (Health Care).

From a regional perspective, the Fund's overweight to Western Europe, the UK and Latin America contributed the most to relative returns. Its underweight position to North America and Asia, as well as a lack of exposure to the Middle East, detracted the most.

From a ratings perspective, the Fund's overweight exposure to BBB and BB-rated securities contributed the most to relative performance, whereas its underweight to A-rated securities detracted the most.

Outlook

We remain neutral duration in recognition that the future path of interest rates is not going to be straightforward, whilst we maintain a preference for steeper curves in the US. While growth has been resilient, ongoing uncertainty around higher tariffs is yet to feed into hard economic data. Meanwhile, sentiment and expectations data in the US suggest a reduction in confidence in the US economy, while Europe may see some growth benefit on the back of its plans for increased defence spending. We expect tariff uncertainty to continue to be a driver of markets in the near term, creating opportunities across regions, sectors and issuers.

Corporate balance sheets for the most part remain in decent shape, though companies have been cautious in giving forward-looking guidance. We expect companies to act rationally should fundamentals deteriorate and to take defensive measures to the balance sheet and preserve equity value, such as reducing capex programmes. Credit technicals continue to be very resilient and we have seen strong supply for May and June easily absorbed as investors looked to put money to work. We expect this trend to continue as high all in yields and low volatility continue to attract money to the asset class despite tight spreads. With spreads back around the tights, we favour a defensive sector and credit quality allocation and remain cautious on highly levered parts of the market as we head into H2 25. Credit selection is likely to be increasingly important as we await more data to confirm the impact of tariffs on the US economy.

Federated Hermes Global Short Duration Bond Fund*

Market Review

Throughout the first half of 2025, global economic data seemed to play a secondary role to the ever-changing U.S. trade and fiscal landscape. During the reporting period, punishing U.S. trade levies, which were first introduced in early April, were retrofitted to more acceptable levels while the incumbent administration pursued fiscal legislation aimed to expand upon President Trump's 2017 tax cuts. Additionally, worsening fiscal trajectories in both the U.S. and abroad prompted investors to reassess the risks associated with holding long-dated bonds. Consequently, longer dated global borrowing costs rose materially in the second quarter of 2025. Overall, US policy remained the key source of global macro volatility.

The rise in market volatility this year has led the European Central Bank (ECB) to stick with its easing programme. The ECB reduced key interest rates yet again – the eighth consecutive reduction – bringing its benchmark rate to 2.00%. However, near-term growth prospects largely hinge on EU-US trade negotiations. Consequently, the ECB is likely to remain on hold in the near term as it awaits further clarity on trade policy before considering further adjustments. Global investment-grade (IG) debt was the second-best performing fixed income sector in the first six months of 2025, rendering a 7.4% return. In comparison, European government bonds procured a modest 0.5% local gain during the reporting period.

As the reporting period drew to a close, the ECB removed 'restrictive' from its terminology, which suggested that it is somewhere near the end of its easing cycle. However, the central bank was clearly worried about the downside effects that U.S. imposed tariffs could have on European growth. Despite removing 'restrictive', the ECB actually turned more cautious in the second half of the reporting period, suggesting that U.S. trade policy was viewed as a greater risk to growth than the stimulative effects of German fiscal expansion.

After widening sharply in the wake of Liberation Day, euro corporate spreads began to rally on the news of the change in US policy and ultimately retraced below pre-Liberation Day levels with high yield euro bonds outperforming IG. Peripheral issuers in Spain and Italy saw the strongest performance with financial senior unsecured and subordinated bonds, leading the way. Strong demand drove down issue premiums for Euro IG and helped print €65 billion of new issuance in the quarter almost doubling year-on-year totals.

UK economic data continued to moderate throughout the reporting cycle and provided the necessary fodder for the Bank of England to commence a quarterly easing pace. However, the recent escalation in the Middle East has muddled those waters over concerns of rising energy pressures.

In Japan, economic activity ran at odds with the Bank of Japan's (BoJ) s growing cautionary tone. Underlying economic data continued to corroborate further tightening measures throughout the reporting period. Consequently, Japanese government bonds generally underperformed most other global government securities. It was becoming exceedingly difficult for the Bank of Japan (BoJ) to completely ignore the ongoing inflationary buildup. It is our view that the Bank of Japan will ultimately have to confront this persistent upward pricing pressure and upgrade their outlook for additional interest rate hikes.

Investment Strategy

The investment strategy is to provide total return by investing primarily in global investment-grade debt securities. Investments in securities denominated in a currency other than Euro will be hedged back to the Euro, therefore eliminating currency related volatility. The fund will also maintain an average duration of one year to three years.

The Fund's strategy is centered around a global approach which offers superior risk diversification and wider opportunities for alpha generation. The Fund's short-term duration mandate also provides improved protection from long-term uncertainties and unforeseen volatility. Additionally, the short-term nature of the Fund's investments increases its liquidity profile.

Risk management relies heavily on the Fund's global reach and diversification attributes. Investment opportunities are global in scale and backed by the full suite of Federated-Hermes investment specialists. Superior risk-adjusted returns are achieved via: US Asset Backed Securities (ABS), corporates, covered mortgage-backed securities (CMBS), and sovereigns. European ABS, corporates, CMBS, and sovereigns. Lastly, the Fund can also seek income and alpha opportunities in both EM high-yield and sovereigns.

Federated Hermes Global Short Duration Bond Fund* (continued)

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes Global Short Duration Bond Fund has generated a total return of 0.63% compared to its benchmark return of 0.62% since inception.

Outlook

U.S. Asset-backed securities (ABS) supply remains strong and credit spreads in prime Auto ABS spreads are now tighter than they were before the tariff related headlines in early April. Used car prices remain elevated, up 16% from Jan-2021 levels, providing additional support to both prime and sub-prime Auto ABS. Credit card ABS is also performing very well with extremely high levels of excess interest from inflated gross yields. ABS continues to offer good value at the short end of the yield curve compared to other investment grade sectors.

Corporate balance sheets remain in good shape to handle potential market turmoil. New issuance continues to be well absorbed and for 2025, new issuance is expected at similar-to-slightly higher levels than in 2024. We continue to remain underweight U.S. IG corporates given very tight spread levels especially on the short end of the curve.

On one hand, the ECB is faced with unprecedented fiscal expansion from the region's largest economy, Germany. In March, German lawmakers approved a €500 billion spending agenda. On the other hand, the euro area may have to contend with punishing U.S. levies on their export sector. The EU and the U.S. have begun negotiations over their future trading relationship, but many potential sticking points remain. These two contrasting dynamics are inherently in conflict with each other and present a formidable challenge for the future path of ECB monetary policy.

Despite President Lagarde indicating that the ECB is approaching the end of its cutting cycle, the Central Bank's own forecasts point to headline inflation undershooting in 2026. Consequently, Fund management continues to favour at least one additional reduction by the end of this calendar year.

The economic backdrop in Europe is brimming with competing dynamics that have made the ECB's principal mandate for 'price stability' more challenging than ever. Our base case scenario for the months ahead is for a moderate global economic contraction, but one that does not lead to a full-scale recession. This framework should bode well for government bond returns and keep corporate spreads range bound at tight levels.

Federated Hermes MDT US Equity Fund*

Market Review

US markets experienced a sharp rise in volatility early in the quarter, driven by concerns related to US tariff policy uncertainty and geopolitical risks. Investor fears were somewhat short-lived, however, as subsequent softening of trade policy and a strong US corporate earnings season led to a healthy rebound in market sentiment. US equities ultimately delivered a very strong quarter of returns. Within the broad equity market, information technology, communication services and industrials stocks led the market, while energy, health care and real estate were the weakest performing sectors for the quarter. Higher volatility, growth-oriented, larger cap stocks were the standout performers, as the 'Magnificent 7' stocks contributed nearly half the broad market's return. The mega-cap Russell Top 200 Index rose 11.82% for the period, outpacing the broad market Russell 3000 Index (+10.99%), the Russell Midcap Index (+8.53%) and the small-cap Russell 2000 Index (+8.50%). The Russell 3000 Growth Index (+17.55%) significantly outperformed the Russell 3000 Value Index (+3.84%).

Investment Strategy

The investment strategy is implemented using a proprietary quantitative model that is designed to facilitate an objective and disciplined analysis of every stock in the Fund's investment universe, the Russell 3000 Index. This strategy seeks to impose strict discipline over stock selection, unimpeded by market or manager psychology. The strategy seeks to maximise long-term return while controlling risk. The Fund utilises a whole market, all-cap/all-style strategy, which we believe provides two main advantages. First, it allows an investor to participate in all major areas of the U.S. equity market (companies of all sizes with both growth and value characteristics) in a single fund. Second, through bottom-up stock selection, and subject to risk controls, it provides a broad ability to overweight or underweight segments of the market represented by those stocks which the quantitative model views as opportunities.

The quantitative model constructs the portfolio of the Fund by considering fundamental and technical measures—including relative value, profit trends, capital structure and price history—analysing trading costs and employing risk controls to promote diversification. The model takes into account trading costs in an effort to ensure that trades are generated only to the extent they are expected to be profitable on an after-trading-cost basis. Additionally, risk is controlled through diversification constraints relative to the Russell 3000 Index, the purpose of which is to seek to create a broadly sector-neutral portfolio and limit exposure to individual companies to within +/- 3% of their index weight, noting there may be instances where the Fund's exposure falls outside this range due to changes in the value of companies held by the Fund. Proposed trades produced by the model are reviewed in an effort to ensure that they are based on accurate and current information. If a proposed trade is deemed to be based on inaccurate information or information for which an update is known to be pending, the trade decision is deferred until the model incorporates more timely and accurate information. The stock selection process is expected to result in investments in companies with both growth and value characteristics.

Performance Review

The Federated Hermes MDT US Equity Fund F share class began operations on June 18, 2025 and returned 0.81% over the balance of the first half of 2025 in GBP terms net of fees, underperforming the benchmark, Russell 3000 Net, by 97 basis points.

Outlook

The fund ended the first half roughly sector-neutral to the benchmark, as intended by our multi-layered risk management. Within the sectors, there were overweight positions of the software and services industry and the commercial & professional services industry. There were underweight positions of the banks industry and the semiconductors and semiconductor equipment industry. At the end of the period, the fund was overweight in growth stocks.

For example, this may be done when the Investment Manager believes an Investment Grade company has targeted for acquisition a Below Investment Grade company. #### Foreign exchange translation

(a) Base and presentation currency

Items included in the Company's Financial Statements are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which it operates (the "base currency"). The base currency of all sub-funds is US Dollar which reflects the fact that a large number of the investments in its portfolios are denominated in US Dollar.

The presentation currency of the Company is US Dollar (US$).

Issues and redemptions of redeemable participating share in foreign currencies are translated at average rates.

(b) Transactions and balances

Foreign currency transactions are translated into the base currency of each sub-fund using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions. Assets and liabilities are translated into the base currency of each sub-fund using exchange rates in effect at the Balance Sheet date.

Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of transactions and from the translation at period end exchange rates of monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are recognised in the Income Statement.

Translation differences on financial instruments held at fair value through profit or loss are reported as part of net gain/(loss) on financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss in the Income Statement.

(c) Foreign exchange adjustments on aggregation

The notional adjustment translation of the Cash Flow movements at the average rate opposed to the financial period end rate is shown in the Cash Flow Statement.

3. Cash and Cash Equivalents

Substantially all of the cash assets of the sub-funds are held with The Northern Trust Company ("TNTC"), which is a 100% indirect wholly owned subsidiary of Northern Trust Corporation which has a Standard & Poor's credit rating of AA- and A1 from Moody's.

Northern Trust Fiduciary Services (Ireland) Limited has appointed TNTC as its Global Sub-Custodian.

Please note that within the cash and cash equivalent balance there is a restricted cash amount of $4,384,118 (31 December 2024: $4,384,118) that is applied pro-rata to each sub-fund by reference to its individual liability and is set aside for a potential IRS liability for underpaid US Withholding Tax, whereby the treaty rate of 15% was being claimed by the Fund instead of the standard rate of 30%, covering a period from January 2013 to March 2018. The Company had submitted a self-declaration in 2019 in relation to this underpayment that had been under consideration with the IRS.

On 1 August 2025, prior to the approval of the Financial Statements, the Company was notified by the IRS that the IRS did not agree with the submission made by the Company in relation to the underpaid US Withholding Tax (which submission was based on advice from the Company's US tax advisors). As a result, the Company has recorded a liability on the Balance Sheet of the affected active sub-funds as this amount is now payable to the IRS. The corresponding expense has also been recorded in the Income Statement for the affected active sub-funds.

The standard US withholding tax rate of 30% has been applied since March 2018.

8. Fair Value Measurement

The Company categorises investments using the following hierarchy as defined by IFRS 13:

- Level I Unadjusted quoted prices in active markets that are accessible at the measurement date for identical, unrestricted assets or liabilities. The type of investments which would generally be included would include equities, american depositary receipts, REITS, warrants and derivatives listed on a securities exchange.
- Level II Quoted prices in markets that are not considered to be active or financial instruments priced using inputs other than quoted prices and for which all significant inputs are observable, either directly or indirectly (including quoted prices for similar investments in active markets, interest rates and yield curves, credit risks, etc.). The type of investments which would generally be included in this category would include corporate bonds, government bonds, asset backed securities, floating rate notes, P-Notes, bank debt and certain over-the-counter derivatives.
- Level III Prices or valuations that require inputs that are both significant to the fair value measurement and unobservable (including the Investment Manager's own assumptions and assumptions used by the Board of Directors about what market participants would use in determining the fair value of investments).
  The type of investments which would generally be included in this category would include private or debt securities issued by private entities and investments priced by the Investment Manager. The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risks associated with investing in those securities.

The tables below set out the fair value measurements using IFRS 13 fair value hierarchies:

- (b) certain exempted Irish tax resident shareholders who have provided the Company with the necessary signed statutory declarations.

Dividends, interest and capital gains (if any) received on investments made by the Company may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by the country from which the investment income/gains are received and such taxes may not be recoverable by the Company or its shareholders.

13. Net Asset Value Per Redeemable Participating Share

The Net Asset Value per redeemable participating share of each sub-fund of the Company is determined by dividing the value of the net assets of the sub-fund by the total number of redeemable participating shares in issue.

14. Provisions, Contingent Liabilities and Outstanding Commitments

At 31 December 2024, a contingent liability was disclosed relating to restricted cash held to settle any potential US Withholding Tax Liability as based on tax advice at the time from the Company's US tax advisors, it was deemed that it would not be probable that the Company will have to settle the liability.

On 1 August 2025, prior to the approval of the Financial Statements, the Company was notified by the IRS that the IRS did not agree with the submission made by the Company in relation to the underpaid US Withholding Tax (which submission was based on advice from the Company's US tax advisors).

In accordance with IAS 10 "Events after the Reporting Period", this event is considered an adjusting event and therefore a provision has been recognised in the Balance Sheet of the active sub-funds as at 30 June 2025 for the underpaid tax and interest. The corresponding expense has been recorded as a tax expense in the Income Statement.

For any impacted sub-funds that are closed to further subscription and are in the process of termination the restricted cash that was previously held in respect of those sub-funds has been used to settle the liability.

Penalties and interest on penalties may be payable in relation to the underpaid US Withholding Tax. At the date of approval of the Financial Statements, the amount owed and likelihood that penalties will be incurred is uncertain as the Company's US tax advisors believe that those penalties and interest on penalties is unlikely to be payable given the Company's engagement in good faith with the IRS on this issue. At the date of approval of the Financial Statements, the Company is continuing to monitor the situation as the Company's US tax advisors continue to engage with the IRS.

With the imposition of additional sanctions during 2023, the military action being undertaken by Russia in Ukraine may impact on securities related to companies domiciled in Russia and/or listed on exchanges located in Russia, including the Moscow Exchange ("Russian securities"). The Directors are monitoring developments related to this military action, including current and potential future interventions of foreign governments and economic sanctions against Russia. As at 30 June 2025, Federated Hermes Emerging Markets Debt Fund held one Russian security with a market value of $2,078 (31 December 2024, $2,029). None of the other sub-funds have any direct exposure to Russian securities at 30 June 2025.

There have been no other significant events during the financial period which may have had an impact on the Financial Statements for the financial period ended 30 June 2025.

20. Subsequent Events

On 8 July 2025, the Company advised investors in the Federated Hermes Global Small Cap Equity Fund and Federated Hermes Global SMID Equity Engagement Fund of the appointment of Mark Sherlock as Co-Portfolio Manager.

On 1 August 2025, prior to the approval of the Financial Statements, the Company was notified by the IRS that the IRS did not agree with the submission made by the Company in relation to the underpaid US Withholding Tax (which submission was based on advice from the Company's US tax advisors).

As a result of this declaration, a provision and corresponding expense has been recognised in the Financial Statements as at 30 June 2025. Please see notes 3 and 14 for further information.

At the date of approval of these Financial Statements, this amount is still payable, and the payment is expected to be made in the third quarter of 2025.

Penalties and interest on penalties may be payable in relation to the underpaid US Withholding Tax. At the date of approval of the Financial Statements, the amount owed and likelihood that penalties will be incurred is uncertain as the Company's US tax advisors believe that those penalties and interest on penalties is unlikely to be payable given the Company's engagement in good faith with the IRS on this issue. At the date of approval of the Financial Statements, the Company is continuing to monitor the situation as the Company's US tax advisors continue to engage with the IRS.

Up to the date of approval of these Financial Statements there have been no other known significant events affecting the Company subsequent to the six-month financial period end, which would impact the Financial Statements for the financial period ended 30 June 2025.

21. Approval Of Financial Statements

The Financial Statements were approved by the Board of Directors on 27 August 2025 for filing with the Central Bank of Ireland and circulation to shareholders.

Federated Hermes Investment Funds Public Limited Company Unaudited Securities Financing Transaction Regulation Disclosures

The Securities Financing Transaction Regulation (Regulation (EU) 2015/2365) ("SFTR") came into effect on 12 January 2016. The aim of the SFTR is to improve the transparency of securities financing transactions ("SFTs") in the shadow banking sector, giving regulators access to detailed information to enable them to monitor risks in that sector on an ongoing basis.

The SFTR divides SFTs into four categories:

- Repurchase transactions;
- Securities or commodities lending or borrowing transactions;
- Buy-sell back or sell-buy back transactions; and
- Margin lending transactions, which is defined broadly to capture any extension of credit 'in connection with the purchase, sale, carrying or trading of securities'.

For the avoidance of doubt, the Company does not currently employ repurchase/reverse repurchase agreements and securities lending for the purposes of efficient portfolio management.

No sub-fund employed SFTs at the period end date of 30 June 2025.
